Special Meeting of Council

Welcome

Welcome to this Special Meeting of the Port Phillip City Council.

Council Meetings are an important way to ensure that your democratically elected representatives are working for you in a fair and transparent way. They also allow the public to be involved in the decision making process of Council.

About this meeting

Only the items specified in the agenda will be considered unless all Councillors are present and unanimously agree to include another matter on tonight's agenda.

Each item has a report written by a Council officer outlining the purpose of the report, all relevant information and a recommendation. Council will consider the report and either accept the recommendation or make amendments to it. All decisions of Council are adopted if they receive a majority vote from the Councillors present at the meeting.

Public Question Time

There is no opportunity at this meeting for the public to ask general questions unless the Chairperson determines otherwise.

Any other public comment at this meeting is at the discretion of the Chairperson.

If you would like to ask a question and / or address the Council on any of the items being discussed tonight, please fill in the blue 'Do You Wish to make a Public Comment' form located outside the Chamber and give to the Administrative Officer.

When your item is being discussed the Chairperson will call your name and ask you to address the Council and / or ask your question. If somebody has already raised an issue you agree with, there is no need to repeat it.

A direction given under Section 81AB (1)(b) must be in respect of the next scheduled meetings of the Council after the direction is made.

2.10 Other key legislative responsibilities

In addition to the Act, Councillors understand and will observe their responsibilities under:

Copyright Act 1968 (Commonwealth)	Under this Act there are restrictions on publishing and republishing some works. Like everyone else, Councillors are subject to these restrictions
Charter of Human Rights and Responsibilities Act 2006	This Act protects certain human rights. A public authority must, when making a decision, give proper consideration to these human rights
Disability Discrimination Act 1992 (Commonwealth)	This Commonwealth Act prohibits discrimination on the ground of disability. To the extent that it binds Council, councillors should not do anything which causes Council to contravene the Act.
Equal Opportunity Act 2010	Section 73 is specifically concerned with discrimination by Councillors. It provides that a Councillor must not discriminate against another Councillor or a member of a Committee. Section 102 of this Act is also specifically concerned with Councillors. It provides that a Councillor must not sexually harass another Councillor or a member of a Committee.
Fair Work Act 2009 (Commonwealth)	This is the Act which regulates workplace relations in Australia. Although Councillors are not covered by the Act, their behaviour and conduct can affect Council's responsibilities as an employer of staff. This can have implications for compliance with the Act.
Health Records Act 2001	This Act applies to Council, to the extent to which it provides maternal and child health services (and some other community services). A number of Health Privacy Principles are contained in the Act, and bind Council. Councillors must ensure that they do not do anything which causes Council to contravene any of these principles or the Act more broadly.

Occupational Health and Safety Act 2004	This Act imposes a number of duties on Council. One of the duties is to ensure, so far as is reasonably practicable, that persons other than employees of Council are not exposed to risks to their health or safety. The behaviour and conduct of Councillors can affect Council’s ability to discharge this duty.
Planning and Environment Act 1987	This Act regulates land use in Victoria. As both a Planning Authority and Responsible Authority, Council has various obligations and functions. It is important that Councillors help ensure that Council performs these obligations and functions lawfully.
Privacy and Data Protection Act 2014	This is the Act which applies to the Victorian Public Sector, including local government. A number of Information Privacy Principles are contained in the Act. Council is bound by the Act. The behaviour and conduct of councillors can affect Council’s compliance with the Act.
Procedural Fairness – a common law duty	One of the principles of procedural fairness (or natural justice) is that a decision-maker must not be affected by actual or reasonably apprehended bias. Reasonably apprehended bias can occur when a hypothetical reasonable person might conclude that the decision-maker might not have an open mind or that there might be a conflict of interest on the decision-maker’s part. It is possible that a reasonable apprehension of bias in respect of a single councillor can cause Council to breach this principle of procedural fairness. Hence the need for Councillors to keep an open mind and to avoid conflicts of interest.
Protected Disclosure Act 2012	This Act is concerned with protected disclosures. Certain protected disclosures can be made to Council. This triggers a process, which can lead to IBAC being notified. It is important that Councillors do not do anything to compromise Council’s obligations under the Act.
Racial and Religious Tolerance Act 2001	Under this Act, a person must not incite hatred, serious contempt, revulsion or severe ridicule on the ground of race or religion. Complaints can be made to the Victorian Equal Opportunity and Human Rights Commission.
Racial Discrimination Act 1975 (Commonwealth)	Under section 18C of the Act, a person must not offend, insult, humiliate or intimidate another on the ground of race. Complaints can be made to the Australian Human Rights Commission

- j) Councillors should not make social media posts or media statements that contravene this Code of Conduct.

3.5 Communication and engagement

Council encourages community engagement on key issues of significance by actively seeking input through community reference groups, from broad cross-sections of the community and through improved community engagement practices.
- b) Council will, to the maximum extent practicable, be open and transparent in its decision making and encourage community participation in Council meetings. Councillors, as representatives of Council, will communicate and engage with the community on Council's key directions, challenges and opportunities respectfully and in accordance with the resolutions of Council.

3.6 Sharing information

While there is a clear separation of powers between Council and the CEO, good governance is dependent upon a shared understanding of Council's priorities and a willingness to work together to achieve outcomes for the community.

- a) Outside of Ordinary Council meetings and briefings, Councillors agree to share information with the organisation in the following ways:

Communication Channel	Purpose
'Helpdesk – Councillor request'	The 'Helpdesk - Councillor request' is the communication channel for all Councillors to log queries. Councillors will receive a weekly councillor request report by email.

Councillor briefings	Briefings are the primary channel for sharing information about Council's strategic priorities and initiatives in preparation for Council's formal consideration of issues. They are a forum for Councillor questions, consideration of options and providing feedback but are not a decision making forum.
Councillor Notes	A weekly email publication for information on events, key projects and service updates.
Council's website	Council maintains its website to provide transparent and up to date information to the community. The 'Hot Topics' section will provide information on any critical issues of interest to Councillors and community.
CEO performance report	The monthly CEO report provides Council and the community with updates on Council's performance. It focuses on the delivery of the Council Plan and updates on financial and non-financial performance targets.

- b) Council staff will provide the information sought in a considered, responsive and timely manner. Councillors cannot direct staff, set priorities or deadlines.
- c) Councillor requests must be reasonable and consistent with existing policies, budgets, Council resolutions, priorities and resources. Councillors do not have individual authority; only Council, through a formally constituted resolution, can direct the organisation to provide information.

- d) For requests which are considered of interest to the whole of Council, or a subset of councillors, staff will copy any written communication to or from the Councillor to those councillors.

4 Council’s Internal Issue Resolution Procedure

The issue resolution procedure has three primary elements. Firstly and most importantly is ‘prevention’. Agreed behaviours and building a team work culture prevent contraventions of the Councillor Code of Conduct and fosters high performance and achievement. Secondly, ‘early intervention’. Through identifying any issues early and taking corrective action, serious contraventions can be avoided. Finally, referral to an independent arbiter, or for serious contraventions, referral to a Councillor Conduct Panel or VCAT, as prescribed by the Act.

Step 1: Prevention
	Key Actions	Responsible Authority
Preventative steps to avoid a contravention of this Code	Councillors are committed to fostering good working relationships between Councillors and with the organisation. Building a constructive working environment where differences are respected and a collective strategic focus is prioritised are a benefit the community. To enable this, Councillors will commit to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Developing and working to a set of agreed team values and behaviours • Have regular ‘check-ins’ on the team values and behaviours as part of the weekly Councillor meeting time • Holding quarterly workshops to review the team values and behaviours with the support of an external facilitator • respectfully hold each other to account to the agreed values and behaviours Examples of agreed team behaviours include: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Upholding the decisions of Council, even where it is not a unanimous decision and respectfully communicate the decision. • Being willing to learn and being open minded • Respectfully listening and being open to other peoples’ views • Being positive and constructive • Engaging in creative and constructive problem solving • Staying focused on agreed strategic priorities 	Councillors

Step 2: Early Intervention
Situation	Key Actions	Responsible Authority
a) Concerns with behaviour demonstrated by a Councillor	Councillors will: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Use “Councillor Only Time” to respectfully and constructively raise issues for discussion and resolution • Respectfully “call” each other on behaviours “in the moment” 	Councillors
b) Conduct by councillor that is inconsistent with the Code and requires intervention	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Mayor is to be notified in writing, providing details of the alleged contravention, when it occurred and who it involved. • Mayor will assess the information • Mayor will speak with relevant councillor/s or concerned parties and provide an opportunity for them to be heard, where appropriate. • Mayor will send a written confirmation to the councillor/s and concerned parties confirming whether the matter was discussed and how it was resolved. 	Mayor
c) If the matter cannot be resolved by the Mayor, or relates to an alleged contravention of the Code by the Mayor which cannot be resolved by other means	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Councillor/s to notify the Principal Conduct Officer (PCO) in writing, providing details of the alleged contravention, when it occurred and who it involved. • PCO will carry out a preliminary assessment of the information and speak with relevant councillor/s or concerned parties and provide an opportunity for them to be heard. • If the PCO determines there is need for an external mediator, then one will be appointed. Meetings will be arranged between the parties at a mutually agreeable time and each be given an opportunity to be heard. • The mediator will conduct one or more meetings with the parties at a mutually agreeable time. • The mediator will send all parties, including the PCO, written confirmation of how this matter was resolved. 	PCO

Differing roles of mediator and arbiter

External mediator – a mediator will facilitate a discussion between parties and can provide suggestions to resolve any matters.

External arbiter – a suitably independent arbiter can make a determination and recommendations in resolving a matter. Their findings and recommendations will be reported to Council.

Step 3: Referral to an independent arbiter
Situation	Key Actions	Responsible Authority
Failure by a Councillor to agree with a mediated agreement or where mediation does not occur or it occurs but does not result in a mediated agreement	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Councillor/s to notify the Principal Conduct Officer (PCO) in writing, providing details of the alleged contravention, when it occurred and who it involved. PCO will carry out a preliminary assessment of the information and speak with relevant councillor/s or concerned parties and provide an opportunity for them to be heard. The PCO will then appointment an independent arbiter. Meetings with the independent arbiter will be arranged with each of the parties at a mutually agreeable time with an opportunity to each be heard. The arbiter will send all parties, including the PCO, written confirmation of how this matter was resolved with their findings and details of any recommended sanctions which will be reported to Council. 	PCO/Council

Step 4: Referral for misconduct, serious misconduct and gross misconduct
Degrees of Seriousness	Key Actions
Misconduct (which includes failing to comply with a council’s internal resolution procedure, such as a failure to abide by decision of Council in relation to a contravention of the Code and repeated contraventions of Councillor Conduct Principles)	Following a Council Resolution, the PCO will contact the Principal Councillor Conduct Registrar and apply for a Councillor Conduct Panel
Serious misconduct (which includes failing to comply with a panel process, bullying, improperly directing staff, releasing confidential information and repeated misconduct. Bullying, which is a form of serious misconduct, is defined as repeated unreasonable behaviour that creates a risk to the health and safety of another Councillor or member of Council staff. This is consistent with the definition of bullying used in the Fair Work Act 2009 and by WorkSafe).	Following a Council Resolution, the PCO will contact the Principal Councillor Conduct Registrar and apply for a Councillor Conduct Panel
Gross misconduct (which includes behaviour that demonstrates that a councillor is not of good character or is unfit to hold the office of Councillor).	Following a Council Resolution, the PCO will contact the Chief Municipal Inspectorate and request that the matter be referred to VCAT .

5 Review Period of the Councillor Code of Conduct

Council may periodically review the Councillor Code of Conduct, in addition to the statutory requirements to review the Code of Conduct after each General Election, to ensure it remains relevant to the operations of Council. Administrative changes that do not materially alter the Councillor Code of Conduct will be made to the document as needed (for example minor changes to legislation). Any other significant changes will be made through Council resolution.
